Personal Profile

Through my years in maths, IT & Computer Science, I have gained a strong interest and understanding of many technologies, both hardware and software. In my time of education in these subjects, the skill I have developed the most is my problem solving, there is no problem in front of me that I feel I cannot solve, and I do not give up until it is done in the most efficient way I can. Creativity is also a strong skill I have, which I have developed in various modules such as computer graphics, games design, and website designing. I am looking to develop my skills with something relevant to these skills, my main goal is to work somewhere, where I can be challenged every day.
